INTRODUCTION

What is this booklet about?

The Council wants to make changes to the provision for primary and secondary aged learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs.

We are proposing to increase the number of specialist resource base places for primary and secondary aged learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs at a range of schools across Cardiff.

We want everyone to understand what is being proposed, so you can tell us what you think of the changes.

This booklet is a summary version of the consultation document on these changes. You can find the consultation document at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNschoolproposals

What are we proposing to do?

To meet the demand for specialist provision for learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs it is proposed to:

- establish an 8 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Baden Powell Primary School from September 2024, within the existing buildings.
- establish an 8 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Fairwater Primary School from September 2024, within the existing buildings. This would replace the existing wellbeing class.
- establish a 16 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Herbert Thompson Primary School from September 2024, within the existing buildings.
- establish a 16 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Lakeside Primary School from September 2024, within the existing buildings. This would replace the existing wellbeing class.
- establish an 8 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Springwood Primary School from September 2024, within the existing buildings. This would replace the existing wellbeing class.
- establish an 8 place specialist resource base for emotional health and wellbeing at Ysgol Gymraeg Pwll Coch from September 2024 within the existing buildings. This would replace the existing wellbeing class.
- establish a 20 place specialist resource base for learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs at Ysgol Gyfun Gymraeg Plasmawr from September 2024, within the existing buildings.

Please note that the development of these proposals is at an early stage. Any detailed school design or site layouts, if necessary, would be considered at a later date. If such changes are necessary, there would be opportunities to comment on detailed plans at the pre-planning and planning application stages, should the proposals be progressed.

We are also consulting on separate proposals to increase provision for primary aged learners with complex learning needs and/or autism at a range of schools across Cardiff.

You can find details of these proposals at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNschoolproposals

Why are we proposing these changes?

School places

All councils in Wales must provide enough school places for pupils of all ages. School places must meet the needs of all pupils and must be suitable for any additional learning needs.

Sufficiency in the Special Sector

Most learners with Additional Learning Needs (ALN) attend a local mainstream school and have extra support there. Learners who have more severe or complex needs attend a special school or specialist resource base. The number of pupils who need a place in a special school or specialist resource base has continued to grow.

A specialist resource base is a small class in a mainstream school, taught by specialist staff. It enables learners with learning difficulties to succeed in a mainstream school environment.

Pupils benefit from a specialist curriculum and from the full range of education opportunities available to all pupils at the school.

At present, primary and secondary schools in Cardiff host specialist resource base provision. The specialist resource bases designated for complex learning needs and/or autism spectrum conditions in primary schools each provide two classes of up to 10 pupils; a class at Foundation Phase for children aged 4 – 7 and a class at Key Stage 2 for children aged 7 – 11.

The number of children and young people requiring specialist placement as a result of their learning disabilities has been increasing in Cardiff over the last 5 years, and steps have been taken since 2018 to increase the number of specialist places available.

Converting the existing wellbeing classes to specialist resource base status, would bring the model into line with the new classes proposed at Baden Powell Primary School and Herbert Thompson Primary School. All wellbeing specialist resource bases would provide time limited early intervention places, the scope for the duration of placement to vary according to the needs and progress of the child.

The wellbeing class provision at Fitzalan High School would be unchanged.

Demand for places

Cardiff currently maintains 90 places for primary age learners, and 284 places for secondary age learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs.

Whilst there are a number of existing specialist settings across Cardiff, there are not enough places available. The number of children who would benefit from a place is projected to increase over coming years.

As there are not enough special school places in Cardiff, the Council has also funded some places at special schools in other council areas or in independent schools. The cost of these placements has increased to meet the shortfall of in-county provision and to ensure learners' needs are fully met.

The total spend on these places was £8.9m in 2022/23. The budget for 2023/24 for these types of places is currently set at £10.3m.

Overall, an expansion of in-county provision would provide a more efficient and effective use of the Council's financial resources than reliance on places in independent schools.

Geographical distribution of specialist provision

The lack of specialist resource bases in some localities can disadvantage learners living in those areas. Some families are unfamiliar with the areas where provision is located. Parents or carers may lack the means to travel easily to those areas.

Although free home to school transport is available for such children, sending a young child to school in an unfamiliar area is a difficult decision for parents/ carers. A better distribution of specialist resource bases across the city would improve access for pupils. It would reduce travel times for many pupils, as well as increasing the number of places available.

Transport matters

The proposed specialist resource bases could reduce the distance travelled to school for children who require placement in a specialist resource base and who currently travel to other areas of the city from the area where they live.

The Council applies the two-mile statutory qualifying walking distance criteria for pupils to qualify for free home to school transport to primary schools and the three-mile statutory qualifying walking distance criteria for pupils to qualify for free home to school transport to secondary schools, including special schools and specialist resource base facilities. Some learners who live within these distances may be provided with free transport due to their individual learning needs and social issues.

The individual needs of pupils at special schools and specialist resource bases, together with the greater distances travelled mean the scope for high rates of active travel is limited compared with mainstream school pupils.

Some pupils in the Additional Learning Needs cohort are able to travel independently or with parent/ carers. Provision of recommended improvements for active travel would benefit these pupils as well as any mainstream pupils, staff and visitors to the sites.

As there would be a maximum of either 8, 16 or 20 children attending each specialist resource base, it is anticipated that there would be a small number of children arriving by free home to school transport in shared taxis. This Learner Transport will need appropriate facilities for drop-off and pick-up which will be considered as part of the proposals.

As the Council is seeking to provide a better distribution of specialist resource base provision across the city, it is expected that the average travel distance to specialist resource bases for individual learners would reduce in future.

Further information regarding transport matters at each school can be found in the consultation document at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNschoollproposals

Quality and Standards

The Council works with the governing bodies of schools to make sure that standards in schools are high, that teaching is good and that leadership and governance is strong.

The standards at the seven schools included in the proposed changes are good.

Details of standards at each school, as set out their most recent Estyn report are outlined in the table below.

School	Inspection Date	Standards	Progress
Baden Powell Primary School	July 2017	Good / Adequate	N/a
Fairwater Primary School	February 2020	Good	N/a
Herbert Thompson Primary School	October 2022	Good	N/a
Lakeside Primary School	November 2014	Good / Adequate	N/a
Springwood Primary School	March 2018	Good / Excellent	N/a
Ysgol Gymraeg Pwll Coch	February 2018	Good	N/a
Ysgol Gyfun Gymraeg Plasmawr	January 2023	Good	N/a

Further information regarding quality and standards at each school can be found in the consultation document at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNschoollproposal

How would support for pupils be affected?

The school would continue to provide support that is appropriate to the individual needs of each pupil.

There is no information to suggest that the needs of any of the below groups would be negatively affected by the proposed changes:

- pupils with Additional Learning Needs
- pupils with English as an Additional Language
- pupils receiving Free School Meals
- Minority Ethnic pupils

Further information regarding support for pupils at each school can be found in the consultation document at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNSchoolproposals

How would the changes affect school staff?

HR People Services will work with the Governing Body of each school to address the HR implications arising from the establishment of a specialist resource base at the school. There may be a need for additional staffing.

Where the Governing Body has adopted the Council's School Redeployment and Redundancy Policy, any new vacancies arising as a consequence of the establishment of the specialist resource base will provide opportunities for school-based staff on the school redeployment register.

What are the benefits of the proposed changes?

- The proposals would increase the number of specialist resource base places for primary and secondary aged learners with emotional health and wellbeing needs and would contribute towards meeting projected demand.
- The opportunity to employ specialist staff and to work more closely with specialist services in Cardiff would enhance the schools' inclusive teaching. This would benefit all pupils in the schools.
- The proposals would mean that some pupils who need a place at an emotional health and wellbeing specialist resource base could have suitable provision closer to home, and therefore travel shorter distances to access specialist provision.
- Pupils who need a Welsh-medium place at an emotional health and wellbeing specialist resource base could have suitable provision closer to home, and therefore travel shorter distances to access specialist provision.
- Co-locating the specialist resource base at Fairwater Primary School with the new Court School provision would allow staff to share best practice, strengthen relationships with special school provision, allow for professional learning opportunities and for multi-agency working.

Potential disadvantages of the proposed changes

- Some pupils with additional learning needs can find change difficult. They may find moving to a new building on a new site unsettling. We know they will need carefully planned support to adapt to the new setting. However, there would be sufficient time and well-established processes to plan and support such a transition.
- There is potential for increased traffic congestion around the school sites at the start and end of the day. The Council would work with the governing bodies of the schools to develop a Travel Plan to minimise any potential disruption.

Potential risks of the proposed changes

Should the need for any building, adaptation and refurbishment works be necessary, the implementation of the proposed change could be impacted due to unforeseen difficulties in appointing appropriate contractors, delays in project delivery or securing sufficient funding. The Council does however have significant experience in the successful delivery of a range of school building projects as a result of progressing a large and growing school organisation programme and the lessons learnt through this would limit the impact of any unexpected matters that may arise. Based on the consultation outcome a range of options would be developed. A full financial evaluation would then take place. This would ensure affordability and limit budgetary pressures on the Council.

Further information regarding benefits, potential disadvantaged and potential risks can be found in the consultation document at www.cardiff.gov.uk/ALNSchoolproposals

What happens next?

The Council will collect and summarise the feedback from this consultation. Council officers will then report this to the Council's Cabinet. This will help the elected members understand stakeholders' views and will give them information to help make their decision.

If the Cabinet decides to continue with the proposals, it must publish a document called a 'statutory notice'. The statutory notice sets out the details of the proposals and asks anyone who wants to object to do so. Objections must be written. They must be sent to the Council within the dates given on the notice.

The Cabinet may decide to approve or reject the proposal, or they may approve the proposal with some changes (modifications). The Cabinet would take any objections received in the Objection Period into account when making their decision.

Once a decision is made, we will let everyone affected by the proposal know. The decision will also be published on the Council's website.
